WELCOME LETTER

Dear colleagues and friends,

Orthopaedic research has seen continuous and exciting advancements over the past decades. Contemporary management for arthritic and traumatic disorders depends on improved knowledge and the practical application of these new findings. Therefore, a close collaboration between clinicians and researchers is essential to achieve optimal patient outcomes.

During its General Assembly in 2024, the European Orthopaedic Research Society (EORS) approved Madrid, Spain as the host city for its 34th Annual Meeting, to be held from September 23 to 25, 2026. It is our privilege to welcome you to one of the best events for sharing ideas, fostering learning, and networking in the field of Orthopaedics, not only in Europe but globally.

Driven by the EORS's central aim, this event provides a unique forum where orthopaedic surgeons, biologists, biomechanists, bioengineers, and translational investigators can engage in vital discussions. The ultimate objective is not only to streamline the path of promising findings from the lab to the clinic, but also to identify pressing clinical problems that require further investigation. The program will combine keynote lectures from world-renowned experts with symposia and free paper sessions, all designed to enhance research studies and extract clinically relevant conclusions through dynamic debates. Additionally, poster sessions will provide excellent opportunities to increase the visibility of investigations. We especially encourage new investigators to participate, gain valuable experience, and foster their growth in the field.

Madrid is a vibrant, growing city with excellent facilities. It is currently experiencing significant growth in its demographics, investment, and international standing. The Congress will be held at the Escuela Técnica Superior de Ingenieros Industriales – Universidad Politécnica de Madrid, part of the School of Industrial Engineering. This prime venue is centrally located on the iconic Paseo de la Castellana, near the Santiago Bernabéu Stadium. Attendees will find all accommodations and travel connections exceptionally accessible, ensuring a smooth and enjoyable experience at our venue.

We are very honored to organize our EORS Annual Meeting!

Nos vemos en Madrid!

Eduardo García-Rey, MD, PhD.

Laura Saldaña, PhD.
